raising effort of two 11-year-old boys of Balmain Primary School should gladden the heart of true Bal-

mainians. These two lads showed what the underlying spirit of "community" is.

Spirit Of

of the hospital fund-

Our story this issue

And the enthusiastic response of their schoolmates, who willingly paid 3 cents each for admission. showed that they, too, understood the meaning of that spirit.

Balmain of course is renowned for its team spirit. It was just this which took the Tigers to victory in last year's Rugby League premiership. It has been demonstrated again by the recent formation of two young people's organisations - the Rotaract Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce - whose purposes are to fill gaps in honorary community service.

This picture of positive, public spirited activity is all the more satisfying in view of the bitter fight in the sphere of Party politics in the Balmain area in recent years.

The district's pride in itself has taken a severe battering through the quarrel over the location of the container terminals and the resultant noise problem.

And this pride has again suffered because Balmain has been virtually ignored by Government developmental moves (except containerisation).

Not even has the resultant traffic problem been handled with any degree of enterprise or interest in the public's welfare.

Let's hope one day the outside world wil recognise Balmain' team spirit and unique character and give it a proper chance to become a premier sec-tion of Australia's largest city.
